

Common Sense Oncology Focus Group Recruitment

We will be conducting a series of focus groups with members of the oncology community regarding their perceptions of the Common Sense Oncology movement, along with any barriers and enablers to the success of the movement. We are looking to gain a better understanding of what the oncology community believes should be the focus of this movement in the next 2-5 years.

If you are an oncology trainee, junior or senior oncologist, a clinical trialist, or an advocate, you are eligible to participate. Focus groups will take 1-1.5 hours to complete and will take place over Zoom. Note: focus groups will be conducted in English, therefore English-speaking proficiency is required.

We are seeking out those whose opinions may align or oppose our current movement, all perspectives are equally welcome.

If you are interested in participating, please email brooke.wilson@kingstonsc.ca to learn more.
